Lees P.13. he looked a bit & quite buckled up. When he heard Lees plans for leave. He is very keen on being attached to "The Rogue Horse"
The Lancers have been ordered to Mesopot-I gave him good advice & told him if he has told a lie not to be frightened admit-his fault. Bill told me he often tells untruths from nervousness. I cried see before I left he sees himself a dashing cavalry officer" - Hope that evil dread has gone down now with for this time of year. I am off to visit your boys All here tomorrow — Remind me of Ellery you have my letters have been opened I think it is a great mistake to have ones address on envelopes —

Yours ever
